PROJECTS

Tijori - Securely save your notes Apr 2023 - Jun 2023
This is an application constructed using the MERN stack, comprising React for the user interface, Node.js and Express.js to manage the server-side operations, and MongoDB for storing user data. The application incorporates a login feature, allowing users to securely store and access their personalized information

PocketNews Dec 2022 - Jan 2023
This is an online news application that delivers daily news updates. It's built using various technology stacks, including ReactJS, Bootstrap for responsive design, and APIs to fetch news data. The app offers news articles categorized by different domains, ensuring users can access news tailored to their interests.

EDC-Website Nov 2021 - Dec 2021
Designed this frontend interface as part of my internship at EDC. The design is intentionally kept simple, in line with the client's specifications. HTML, CSS, and JavaScript are used to craft this project.

POSITION OF RESPONSIBILITY
