PROJECTS

Tijori - Securely save your notes   Apr 2023 - Jun 2023

This application is constructed using the MERN stack, comprising React for the user interface, Node.js and Express.js to manage the server-side operations, and MongoDB to store user data. The application incorporates a login feature, allowing users to securely store and access their personalized information

PocketNews   Dec 2022 - Jan 2023

This online news application delivers daily news updates. It's built using various technology stacks, including ReactJS, Bootstrap for responsive design, and APIs to fetch news data. The app offers news articles categorized by different domains, ensuring users can access news tailored to their interests.

EDC-Website   Nov 2021 - Dec 2021

Designed this frontend interface as part of my internship at EDC. The design is intentionally kept simple, in line with the client's specifications. HTML, CSS, and JavaScript are used to craft this project.
